

PEONY ROSE COTTAGE

A love of Whitby led Kerry and Michael Hardy to buy this beautiful Grade II-listed coastal cottage, they spent the next eight months renovating it to an exceptionally high standard with luxury fittings and furnishings, creating a breathtakingly beautiful cottage

The owners of Peony Rose Cottage spent many years enjoying all that Whitby has to offer, including its long sandy beach, delicious seafood, coastal walks, tea rooms, restaurants and shops, before marrying in Sandsend in 2015. They fell in love with a two-bedroom property in the heart of this seaside town, and dedicated months to refurbishing it to the highest quality. The results are stunning and achieved a four-star grading from Visit England.

Located on Cliff Street (known locally as the prettiest street in Whitby), one of the cottage's most attractive features is its pink door, which many passers-by stop to photograph. Six steps lead up to the distinctive patio/garden area with a bistro-style table and chairs, perfect for al-fresco dining in summer. The garden is filled with flowers and herbs.

Inside, the oak-floored lounge boasts sea views and is complete with a multi-fuel burning stove, grandfather clock, Freeview TV, three-seater sofa, armchair, window seat, magazines, DVDs, and luxury cushions and throws for that all important down-time.

The kitchen is also kitted out with all the facilities you'll need, including a coffee machine, microwave, vintage-style radio, kitchen table and Welsh dresser upcycled by Kerry herself. Both rooms retain original ceiling beams and windows with shutters, giving Peony Rose a real cosiness and retreat feel.

Upstairs is fitted with seagrass carpets, where the first bedroom features a luxury king-size bed which you can lie in while enjoying striking views of the sea and St Mary's, along with a window seat draped with beautiful curtains, flowers and cushions. There's a second twin bedroom and bathroom with a lovely roll top slipper bath painted in Farrow and Ball's Cinder Rose paint. For that extra special touch you are provided with Molton Brown toiletries and luxurious fluffy towels, at a small extra cost they can also provide robes for that special romantic break.

Guest reviews rate Peony Rose Cottage as five-star and comments include 'by far the best cottage in Whitby'. While it'll be hard to tear yourself away from this idyllic haven, there's lots to discover out and
